

Rue L. Clegg takes wife, Margaret, on her maiden sky ride.

A DREAM CAME TRUE

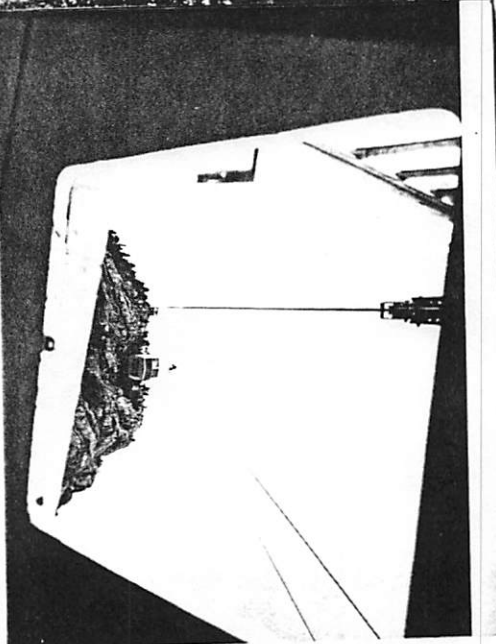

Many years ago a five-year old boy stood at Bridal Veil Falls, dreamed of owning them some day and building a castle at their feet.

It was not until half a century later that this dream became a reality. Now, people from all over the world enjoy this fantastic ride up past the lovely waterfalls.

The Sky Ride is a family project with Rue running the tramway and his wife, Margaret, operating the Gift Shop. Teen-agers John and Ann help with everything and occasionally go up with timid sky riders.

Bridal Veil Falls with gondola approaching upper terminal, as viewed from Highway 189 in Provo Canyon, Utah. It is a 3 minute ride each way.

Looking up through hatch of gondola at upper terminal. Other gondola can be seen descending the 45° angle. Cableway operates on "jig-back" system — like buckets in a well.

Cars in parking area at right line up for sky ride. Over 53,000 people took this ride in 1962, the first year of operation. Gondola can be seen leaving lower terminal.

Looking down 1753' to lower terminal. Cars can be seen in parking area and foot bridge across the river. Gondola is about 1 minute from upper station. Falls are at right, below.
